

STAY CONNECTED

We hope you, your family, organization and loved ones are staying healthy and safe in light of the rapidly evolving effects of COVID-19 Pandemic on our communities. Our remote working at ARCH remains seamless as we very actively manage our long list of clients remotely, taking advantage of technology to keep project teams on task.

It is times like these we must stick together and support our surrounding communities. ARCH has made a donation to support the COVID-19 Emergency Response Fund, assisting children of first responders and first responder families. In addition, April is Parkinson's awareness month; ARCH has made a donation to the Parkinson's Foundation.

FRESH AIR, FRESH IDEAS

While we are saddened that we won't be able to see our colleagues at canceled industry conferences this Spring, we do have some fresh ideas that we'd still love to share with you. Check out the Newsletter section of our website to learn best practices in CapEx planning. Please contact Frank at Fmuraca@archltd.com with any questions, he would love to hear from you.

SPRING FORWARD

Construction springs forward at the Richfield Living Salem, Virginia campus. This phased repositioning project hit an exciting milestone as first residents were welcomed into the new independent living villas in mid-April. Additional project phases include a new skilled care building, new Town Center, additional independent living apartments and renovations to the existing campus.

Construction is complete at the Legacy at North Augusta in Staunton, Virginia. This repositioning project included a three-story addition and conversion of an existing wing to Memory Care units with associated amenity spaces.
